

CV

I've had over 5 years of experience in an IT industry and was involved into many software projects of various sizes. Being a good team player, I believe that good spirit is the key of success of each team. Constantly achieving for a self-developing, every time I improve my knowledge about used technologies and frameworks. Most of projects were related to web-based solutions. I have experience in full application design from scratch, working on requirements analysis and specifications, analysis and resolving, coding, testing, performance and code improvement. Also, I have strong experience with code re-factoring. I have extensive understanding of HTML, CSS, JS. I have excellent skills with React and other JS (es5/es6/es7), jQuery libraries, especially react, react-redux, redux-saga, etc. I have excellent understanding of the mobile first, responsive design. I'm focused on creating powerful solutions to bring customer's ideas on new level and feel excellent and confident to work with edge technologies, which open new perspectives of web nowadays. Most of my technological expertise lies in the area of frontend and web, UI frameworks (JavaScript Frameworks). My responsibilities on recent projects are the following: system design and architecture – 20%, coding – 60%, testing – 10%, documentation – 10%.

What are my differences:

- very passionate about what I'm doing
- quickly understand the business requirement fast
- great sense of responsibility
- always implement best practices for the projects to keep the best performance
- beautiful, readable and well-structured code; testing (unit, automatic, etc.) is always included.
- always eager to propose/learn new things improve product quality.
